Towards a Digital Territory

Workplace Assessment Tool

RDA NT has developed this tool to assist with the gathering of information relating to digital capability and capacity across the Northern Territory. This information will assist us in demonstrating the need for improved information telecommunications infrastructure and expertise. In a region as remote and challenging as the Northern Territory good communications is essential to economic growth, not to mention quality of life. Through the information gathered with this tool we hope to inform policy, programs and funding providers by outlining not only the needs but also the opportunities which might come from achieving a digital Territory.
